

Trilateral Cooperation VISION 2020

We, the Leaders of the Republic of Korea, Japan and the People's Republic of China, convened in Jeju, Korea on May 29, 2010, on the occasion of the 3rd Trilateral Summit Meeting.

We express our satisfaction with the visualization of substantial outcomes derived from the past decade of our cooperation, in the field of political affairs, economy, culture, and people-to-people exchanges. We will continue to uphold and fully implement the common views enunciated in the Joint Declaration on the Promotion of Tripartite Cooperation, Joint Statement for Tripartite Partnership and the Joint Statement on the Tenth Anniversary of Trilateral Cooperation among the People's Republic of China, Japan and the Republic of Korea.

We confirm that there still remains great room for the development of the trilateral cooperation in promoting the exchange of people, goods, services and capital, and in the field of regional and global issues led by the world's trend in globalization. In the spirit of facing history squarely and advancing towards the future, we will unswervingly continue to push the trilateral relations forward in the direction of good-neighborliness, mutual trust, comprehensive cooperation, mutual benefit and common development.

We share the common recognition that by presenting specific goals and visions to be achieved through cooperation by 2020, when the next decade ends, we need to combine our capacities and enhance trilateral cooperation to a higher level so that our future-oriented comprehensive cooperative partnership will be more solid, cooperation to our mutual benefit in all areas will be more fruitful, the sentiments of friendship among our peoples will be more profound, and the trilateral cooperation will serve common interests of the three countries and contribute to peace, stability and prosperity of the East Asian region and the world at large.

With this in mind, we have decided as follows:

I. Institutionalization and Enhancement of Trilateral Partnership

1-1. We envision the advancement of building solid strategic mutual trust among the three countries by strengthening high-level contacts and the development of friendship and amity among the peoples of the three countries, while deepening and expanding trilateral exchange, through inter-governmental cooperative mechanisms, such as the Summit Meeting, Foreign Ministers' Meeting, other Ministerial Meetings, Senior Foreign Affairs Officials' Consultation, etc.

1-2. We will establish the Trilateral Cooperation Secretariat in the Republic of Korea in 2011 in order to promote and strengthen trilateral cooperation. The Secretariat will provide support for the operation and management of the trilateral consultative mechanisms, such as the Trilateral Summit Meeting, the Foreign Ministers' Meeting, other Ministerial Meetings, and the Senior Foreign Affairs Officials' Consultation, and facilitate the exploration and implementation of cooperative projects.

1-3. To jointly respond to natural disasters effectively and contribute to disaster risk reduction in Northeast Asia, we will endeavor to fully utilize existing institutions and organizations in sharing disaster-related information, policies, and technologies, including China-Japan-Korea Trilateral Head of Government Agency level Meeting on Disaster Management.

1-4. We will explore the possibility to establish the 'Trilateral Defense Dialogue' in order to strengthen security dialogue and facilitate exchange and cooperation among the defense or military personnel of the three countries.

1-5. We will establish a close cooperative mechanism among the police authorities of the three countries in order to jointly respond to international crimes and enhance the trilateral policing cooperation.

1-6. We envision the advancement of exchanges among the local governments of the three countries, as we strengthen cooperation in administrative, economic, and cultural areas by expanding the sisterhood relationship among the three countries

II. Sustainable Economic Cooperation for Common Prosperity

2-1. By the year 2012, we will endeavor to complete the Joint Study for an FTA among China, Japan and Korea, which was launched in May 2010. Through the Joint Study, we will pursue a common understanding among the three countries on issues involved, for a practical reference for future negotiations of a possible FTA among China, Japan and Korea. Furthermore, we will continue to work towards further economic integration of the three countries in the long-term, including the establishment of a common market in the region.

2-3. We recognize that establishing a coordinated and efficient transport and logistics system among the three countries will benefit the reduction of production costs and the improvement of international competitiveness. Therefore, we advocate to continuously take full advantage of the China-Japan-Korea Transport and Logistics Ministerial Conference and bilateral policy dialogues to push forward the development of transport and logistics network in Northeast Asia, for the purpose of a seamless logistics system.

2-4. We reaffirm the importance of customs cooperation, which will contribute to trade facilitation and supply chain security not only among the three countries but also in the region. In this regard, we will further enhance customs cooperation through the implementation of the ‘Action Plan of the Tripartite Customs Cooperation’ under the framework of the Tripartite Customs Heads’ Meeting (TCHM).

2-7. We share the view that an open, fair and liberalized multilateral trading system is essential to the economic prosperity not only of the three countries, but also of the world as a whole. It is imperative for us to fight against protectionism in any form in order to preserve and reinforce such system. In this regard, we are determined to seek a prompt, ambitious and balanced conclusion to the Doha Development Round, consistent with its mandate, based on the progress already made, including with regard to modalities, and strengthen the trilateral cooperation for the continuous advancement of the multilateral trading system in the era beyond the Doha Development Round.

We share the view to enhance the cooperation in science and innovation to improve our research capacity, strengthen the competitiveness of the industrial technology of the three countries, address the common regional and global issues and explore ways of contributing to the long-term goal of developing an East Asia community. For this purpose, we will continue to provide financial support, including the Joint Research Collaboration Program and the A3 Foresight Program and explore the possibility of further expansion of the investment in light of actual circumstances. In addition, we will explore the possibility of establishing a new joint fund program to support the basic research on common interest in the fields, and by the means which are decided through discussions among the three countries.

2-9. We affirm that cooperation on standards is a key tool by which to facilitate trade through the elimination of unnecessary technical barriers to trade. In this regard, we will further enhance cooperation on standards through researching harmonization of standards, proposal of harmonized international standards and the Northeast Asia Standards Cooperation Forum.

2-10. We will further continue to consult on policy cooperation in such areas as industry, energy, energy efficiency, resources, ICT, hi-tech, cultural industry, transportation, health, agriculture, fishery, tourism and intellectual property rights.

We recognize that more coordinated trilateral economic cooperation is a key to promoting economic activities in the region, and we are committed to further strengthening our cooperation through such measures as the ones stipulated above. Furthermore, recognizing the important role played by the three countries in the regional and global economy, we should act together to generate strong, sustainable and balanced global growth in multilateral fora, especially including G20 and APEC. To this end, we will actively participate in initiating a cooperative and consultative process of mutual assessment of our policy frameworks.
